About This Property
Sweeping meadow views greet you at the Town of Northborough’s Green Street land. The Northborough Trails Committee has created trails that take you across the Green Street field, over Howard Brook, and onto the steep wooded hillside. Howard Brook—a tributary of the Assabet River—is a cold-water stream that supports native brook trout.

Features of Note

- The fields on the Green Street land and the privately owned Rawstron land are mowed regularly to maintain their open character and protect a type of wildlife habitat that is becoming less common in our region.
- Similarly, the private owners of the Rawstron Woods land actively manage the forest to maintain a quality habitat for birds and other animals, such as moose and bobcat. SVT holds conservation restrictions over all three properties.
- A sloped bridge crosses the stone wall and a stream along Green Street, allowing access from the northern tip of the property.
- A small man-made pond serves as a reminder of the land’s agricultural past. Until recently, the pond served as a watering hole for the cows that grazed here.
- The forested portion of the land is dominated by mature eastern white pines, with occasional scattered oaks, beeches, and other hardwoods.
